NetGiver Wins Again!

Every win for NetGiver is a win for charitable organizations nationwide!

The charitable giving platform, NetGiver, won Best of Category for Non-Commercial Video with its lighthearted animation, Captain Credit Union VS the Big Bad Banking Bandit. Watch it here: my.netgiver.app/Diamond2021

This award comes on the heels of the 2020 TEKNE Award, sponsored by Minnesota Technology Association and the Next Big Idea competition sponsored by NACUSO (National Association of Credit Union Service Organizations), making this the latest honor of 3 in 7 months. Each of these awards makes it clear that the NetGiver vision is inspired and timely.

This latest nod to NetGiver's creativity was awarded by CUNA Councils which held its Marketing & Business Development Council Diamond Awards (virtually) between April 12th and the 15th. Accepting for NetGiver was the company's President and Co-founder, Eric Berg. "At NetGiver, we believe that credit unions are superheroes, and they continue to do amazing things in their communities. We couldn't be more proud to be a part of that!"

Captain Credit Union may appear to be a minor superhero, but he does a fine job representing the strength, reliability, and imagination we want to believe our financial institutions consider integral to their mission. NetGiver is strong evidence that credit unions have their members' best interests in mind, as well as the best interests of the greater community.

NetGiver's next exciting contribution to the combined community of credit unions and charitable giving is their newly created podcast - Imagine the Difference. The introductory episode is available now at: www.netgiverapp.com/podcast, and is hosted by Patrick Martin and Noelle Bartlett, members of the NetGiver team. Be sure to listen, and catch all of the stories of credit union superheroes.

Once again, through NetGiver, every dollar donated lands in the hands of the intended charitable organization. No deductions. No kidding. Imagine the difference.
