Callahan & Associates Breaks Down The NCUA's 2024 Supervisory Priorities.

Washington, DC – Callahan & Associates is pleased to announce its upcoming webinar, Trendwatch Deep Dive: NCUA's 2024 Supervisory Priorities, scheduled for April 18th at 2 PM ET.

Designed to help credit unions prepare for upcoming examinations, Callahan's industry analytics experts, William Hunt and Roman Ojala, will provide clarity on key supervisory priorities outlined by the National Credit Union Administration (NCUA).

With a focus on liquidity, credit, and interest rate risk, attendees will walk away a deeper understanding of what to expect, along with valuable insights from industry performance trends, ensuring they are well-prepared to address challenges and capitalize on opportunities in the evolving regulatory landscape.

Attendees will walk away with:

- Clarity on NCUA's supervisory priorities, including liquidity, credit, and interest rate risk.
- A better handle on key performance metrics and industry trends in these areas.
- Insightful takeaways from discussions with experienced industry analysts and credit union executives to prepare effectively for upcoming examinations.

Registration for the webinar is open. Attendees will also have access to the on-demand recording for future reference.

Join Callahan & Associates and industry leaders in this educational journey to stay ahead of regulatory changes and elevate your institution's performance in 2024.
