

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ebankIT and Alogent join forces to transform digital banking and payments for financial institutions

Peachtree Corners, GA, November 18, 2025 – ebankIT, a global digital banking solutions provider for community financial institutions, today announced a strategic partnership with Alogent (@AlogentCorp), a global leader in banking and financial services software. This collaboration integrates ebankIT's omnichannel digital banking platform with Alogent's advanced remote deposit capture (RDC) and item processing platform, creating a unified experience that empowers financial institutions to accelerate digital transformation, enhance security, and streamline customer journeys.

By joining forces, ebankIT and Alogent address a growing demand among banks and credit unions for seamless integration between digital banking and payment technologies. The partnership bridges two best-in-class platforms with flexible, future-ready architecture, combining Alogent's proven expertise in image capture, deposit automation, and fraud mitigation, with ebankIT's omnichannel capabilities. Together, they enable financial institutions to deliver consistent, user-centric digital experiences across consumer and business channels, with scalability to support future growth.

"Our partnership with ebankIT delivers secure, seamless experiences that build trust and keep users engaged across every channel, helping financial institutions modernize faster and smarter," said Chris Wilson, VP Business Development, Alogent. "The combined strengths of both organizations empower banks and credit unions to provide consistent, digital experiences that enhance customer engagement and meet evolving market demands."

"This partnership is a natural fit," said Paul Provenzano, VP of US Market Development at ebankIT. "Alogent's deep expertise in payments and deposit automation perfectly complements ebankIT's vision for a flexible and scalable digital banking ecosystem. Together, we're helping financial institutions deliver seamless journeys, from deposits to payments, within a single, intuitive interface."

With a shared focus on flexibility, speed-to-market, and customer engagement, ebankIT and Alogent are redefining what's possible in digital banking and deposit automation. The integrated solution ensures robust compliance, reduces implementation time through open APIs, and provides ongoing innovation with AI-driven insights and personalized financial tools.
