eDOC and CU-Interface Launch Integrated eSign Solution

MIDDLEBURY, VT– January 23, 2023

eDOC Innovations, a Credit Union Service Organization (CUSO) specializing in mobile enterprise digital transaction management and CU-Interface, provider of renowned mpowered core processing technology for credit unions, “so smart that you won’t have to think about core processing technology,” have collaborated to build an e-signature integration for their mutual clients.

“eDOC’s eDOCSignature® solution paired with mpowered core solution will provide our mutual clients a dynamic workflow that enables documents for eDelivery, eSignature, and eClosing capabilities, optimizing the member experience and the credit unions’ lending process,” said Christian Dabney, VP of Business Development at CU-Interface. “This integration addresses credit unions’ often challenging efforts to offer features-rich, secure, on-the-go solution at a great value regardless of credit union’s size. Considering the rising need for secure remote document signing, our integration is seen as an attractive option to our clients,” added Dabney.

“We appreciate CU-Interface for their commitment to provide integrated solutions to all their clients. In building this integration, we joined our respective organization’s resources to provide a frictionless workflow that facilitates the completion of day-to-day transactions for both credit union staff and members,” said Joseph Lao, VP of Sales and Market Development. “It has been my pleasure to work with Christian and celebrate with his team the completion of this phase of our vision. We are excited to see where our collaboration will take us.”
