Financial Center Appoints Ryan Cook as New Chief Financial Officer

Indianapolis, IN – Financial Center is pleased to announce the appointment of Ryan Cook as the Credit Union’s new Chief Financial Officer. With more than 15 years of extensive experience in the financial sector, Cook brings a deep understanding of accounting, financial strategy, and leadership to his new role.

Cook's financial career began at Home Bank, where he served for 9 years as the VP and Controller. He then moved on to Mutual Savings Bank, where he held the position of SVP/CFO for 6 years. He is a 2017 graduate of the Graduate School of Banking in Madison, Wisconsin, and holds a degree from the Kelley School of Business at IU Indianapolis.

In his new role, Cook will lead the Accounting Team, focusing on gaining efficiencies and supporting the overall strategic direction of Financial Center. He will work closely with the Executive Team to continue to serve members and position the Credit Union for future growth.

“We are incredibly excited to have Ryan join our team,” said Cam Minges, President and CEO. “His wealth of experience and commitment to excellence will undoubtedly contribute to our mission of providing value to our members.”

Outside the office, Cook has been married to his wife, Sabrina, for 17 years and they have three children. They enjoy watching their children participate in sports and recreational activities and spending time outdoors as a family.

Please join us in welcoming Ryan to Financial Center as we look forward to a future filled with continued growth and success!
